

the ship in distress

Sung by Mr Watersfield, Sussex 1907

You seamen bold who plough the ocean See dangers lands-man never know. It's not for hon - our and pro-mo-tion; No tongue can tell what they un-der-go. In the blusterous wind and the great dark water Our ship went drifting on the sea, Her head-gear gone and her ruder-broken, Which brought us to ex-trem-ity.
